1. All clothing must be clean, on hangers, of recent styling and in nearly new condition. We accept women's clothing only for consignment. Without explanation, we reserve the right to refuse to consign any clothing that we deem unsuitable for sale.
2. Each article will be offered for sale at a price to be determined by staff.
3. When an item is sold, the May Court Shop will receive 60% of the selling price and the consignor will receive 40% of the selling price. If the consignor's portion of the selling price is not claimed within ONE YEAR it will be considered a donation to charity.
4. After 42 days (6 weeks) the consigned item becomes the property of May Court. It is the consignor's responsibility to claim articles not sold before NOON on the Saturday of the pick-up date. The consignor is required to find and retrieve items for return from the racks.
5. The consignor is NOT contacted when an article is sold.
6. If an item is deemed to be unsuitable for sale after it is consigned (due to flaws, marks, etc.) the item will be removed from the sales floor, noted accordingly and held for pick-up until the 6-week expiration date. The consignor may not be notified if this occurs.
